

Ronaldo NUZZI

MANAGING PARTNER

AXCEL Partners Brazil

Ronaldo Nuzzi has worked on hundreds of restructuring and strategic repositioning projects in large groups, supporting senior management in making tactical and strategic decisions. He also holds management board positions as an independent board member in numerous Brazilian companies.

Ronaldo's experiences span various markets: Agribusiness, Automotive, Finance, Retail, Education, Industry/Capital Goods, Environment, Gas and Oil, Transport/Logistics and Healthcare.

He began his career in the financial market by developing technology platforms for financial institutions. He then worked at Ernst & Young as a senior consultant for several strategic repositioning projects in large corporate conglomerates in various locations around the world. He then joined Booz Allen & Hamilton as a project manager where he worked on projects in Latin America, Europe and the USA.

Acting as CEO of Axcel Partner Brasil, based in São Paulo, he is responsible for the company's operations in the country.

He holds a BA in Mathematics from PUC / SP, an MBA from the Institut Supérieur de Gestion (ISG) / Paris and a post master's degree OPM (Owner President Management) from HARVARD BUSINESS SCHOOL / Boston.